

I support continuing the restrictions on media cross-ownership. Removing barriers to ownership invites a level of control of the public discourse that is undemocratic. Already news shows spend more time cross marketing their TV shows and record labels than they spend on issues.